

William Criddle - 6th August 1914

Dawlish Gazette – 15th August 1914

Death.

CRIDDLE.—August 6th, in active service, William John Criddle, 1st class Petty Officer, H.M.S. Amphion.

To the Inhabitants of Dawlish.

Ladies and Gentlemen,

We wish to tender our respectful and grateful thanks to one and all for the great consideration and sympathy shown to us during this trying time.

Yours ob-diently,
R. & P. HOEFLER.
14 Park Road, Dawlish.

God Save the King.

MRS. W. J. CRIDDLE desires to return her heartfelt thanks to numerous friends for the great kindness and sympathy shown to her in her bereavement.

The sorrowing Father and Mother and Brothers and Sisters of the late William John Criddle beg to express their deep gratitude to many friends for the kind sympathy shown to them in their bereavement.

Roman Hoefler was a watchmaker in Park Road, Dawlish, he was a member of a German family of watchmakers based in Plymouth.

Death.

CRIDDLE.—August 6th, in active service, William John Criddle, 1st class Petty Officer, H.M.S. Amphion.

To the Inhabitants of Dawlish.

Ladies and Gentlemen,

We wish to tender our respectful and grateful thanks to one and all for the great consideration and sympathy shown to us during this trying time.

Yours obediently,

R. & P. HOEFLER.

14 Park Road, Dawlish.

God Save the King.

MRS. W. J. CRIDDLE desires to return her heartfelt thanks to numerous friends for the great kindness and sympathy shown to her in her bereavement.

The sorrowing Father and Mother and Brothers and Sisters of the late William John Criddle beg to express their deep gratitude to many friends for the kind sympathy shown to them in their bereavement.

Roman Hoefler was a watchmaker in Park Road, Dawlish, he was a member of a German family of watchmakers based in Plymouth.